

ABSTRACT

The present invention is directed to monoclonal or recombinant antibodies or fragments thereof that bind to human telomerase reverse transcriptase (hTERT) protein. The present invention is also directed to methods of identifying or detecting hTERT polypeptides in biological samples. The invention is further directed to methods of generating antibodies that specifically bind to hTERT protein.

PA 3195370 v1